Chicken nuggets
By Sadie M.S

One time in the chicken nugget restaurant, a waiter was walking to a table and he bumped into someone, not realizing that three of the chicken nuggets on his tray fell! The waiter kept on walking, but the chicken nuggets fell into water! But this wasn't any water, it was water that when any food touched it, it turned them into thieves! The chicken nuggets ran to the door when someone was walking out. The chicken nugget got out just in time before the door closed! (Remember these chicken nuggets are thieves) when they stepped outside, their eyes almost popped out of their heads. Just in front of them was a jewelry store, a bank, and a Mall. (It was at night, so no one was at the mall) The chicken nugget thieves got right to work. First they robbed the Mall, then they robbed the jewelry store, and then Best For Last, they robbed the bank. But actually, someone WAS at the mall. It was a worker. They call the whole thing happen. so they called 911. The police came, and for some coincidence, they had water that turned any Thief food back into regular food. I mean who would have THAT? The police, I guess. Anyway, back to the story, the police dumped the water on their heads, chicken nuggets became regular chicken nuggets again, they heated the chicken nuggets up and ate them.

THE END