There was a girl named Abigail she had short hair, was a little shy, had lots of friends, She liked to wear long sleeve shirts and shorts , She had a birthday party on Friday at the park. The park had a lot of grass. There were a lot of slides and the slides were yellow. Abigail was so happy for her birthday party because her friends were coming to her birthday party. It was all sunny at first, but it started to get cloudy then Abigail said to "herself why is there no sun? " Then it started to rain ,she was so sad because the cake her mom decorated with a unicorn fell off the table. . Her friends didn't have umbrellas and the dirt on the ground under the grass started to get all muddy. Abigail said to her friends "why did it have to rain?"Her presents got all wet. She yelled "no my presents! Her friends got so wet and she did too! She Got even more mad and sad. She went to her, mom and said "this is a disaster",Abigail's friends started to leave. It started to rain harder. Abigail got so sad because she didn't have enuf time to play with her friends. She started to run because her new shirt got wet and tried to save the cake so ran all over the place but she slipped . "she said ouch!" I slipped, she told her mom to help her up. Then a few hours later the sun came up she was all happy and she opend all her presents she was so happy and excited to see what her friends got her. And she got so many things from her presents. Even though her friends went home she was still happy and there was a rainbow! she said" LOOK THERE'S A RAINBOW" she was still sad about her cake. :(But at least she got her presents. And a few days later her friends were at her house to celebrate her birthday. They said "sorry for leaving "and Abigail said" its fine and by the way it was raining". They were REALLY happy because Abigail's mom got some cake! For her and her friends!
