

I was at the skatepark and realized im wearing the wrong shoes
And i'm wearing tennis shoes so I went home and got some skating shoes on.
And on the way to the skatepark I groped my phone in a lake
So I went to the phone store and bought a new phone.
And by the time I got to the skatepark it was closed so I jumped the fence and started skating.
And some friends joined but I got no friends. That's actually true in real life. But really nobody joined.I kept on skating with my headphones on and while I was skateboarding heard a siren and saw a blue light and I knew for a second I'm busted. And the person in the police car was my uncle Daniel he said hey little dude what are you doing and I say who you calling little dude oh shoot Daniel great you just realized i'm here wow I've been talking to you for like 20 seconds and you just realize I'm here to ask you if I can skateboard with you ya shur why not and I saw him skateboard and he is really good he's doing 900's like nothing I'm starting to think that he's Tony Hawk.and he left after 2 hours and I left so he gave me a ride back home.once I got home I showered and went to bed. And the next day I played video games and played with tech decks.
And went to the skate park at 2 pm so I got there and I saw a lot of people outside of the biggest bowl at the park so I went there and Tony Hawk was skating the bowl.
I was able to get a picture with him.