

CandyLand

Millie's Creative Narrative Prompt

I woke up and grabbed my lemon yellow and white dress. Then brushed my sparkling lemon yellow hair. Then I realized that I was going to be late for school! I ran down stairs, grabbed my cookies and ran outside on the freshly cut grass the Gumdrop Express was closing the doors just as I jumped on! I was safe. " You almost missed the bus again!" Sweet said, Sweet had all the colors of the tastiest Sweets in town on her dress, and chocolate hair. She was also my best friend. "Do you want to go to the tree house to study after school?" I asked. "Sure." Sweet said. I turned my head and stared at the Sweet Cotton candy trees. She took a deep breath and smelled sweet orange. Right then the bus stopped, they were at school. When they walked outside the bus it started raining "Did you know it would rain today?" I asked Sweet. She knew everything about the weather. "No I did not. They did not say it would rain." she said. "Huh that's weird." I answered. They made their way to the school gates and then realized that today was their test "Come on! We can't be late!" We ran straight to class. When they got to class only a few students there. I shrugged and sat down. Soon more students came in. "Sorry! For being late we had no idea about the rain!" they said. " You should have been ready for it, you know, today is your test!" he said. The teacher was a nice guy but can be strict during an exam. At the end of class we got our test scores, please don't give me an b, I got an A+. "Yes!" I said. "What?" Sweet asked. I gave her my sheet. "I got the same score!" Sweet said. "Come on let's go and study for the next exam tomorrow." I suggested. "Yeah." Sweet said. They made their way to the Cotton Candy tree's, and soon they got to their tree house. "Cake you here?" my dad said outside. "Yes. Dad, I'm here, what is it?" I answered. As I climbed down. "Got an important letter I need you to deliver." "Why can't you do it?" "It's to earth..."

"Oh! I can do it!" "Ok here you go." He gave me a letter. "It is really important you get this to Kate in time." Kate had blond hair, blue eyes and a flower dress. AND she was also her Friend.

"Ok thanks!" I said. "Can I come?" Asked Sweet. "Of course!" He said. "Ok then bye." I said and went farther into the calm forest. "Oh I forgot to tell you this. There is a hurricane headed in that direction so be careful!" My dad said very faintly then the forest went quiet. They wound their way through the forest. I remembered it like yesterday when I could not find my way. Soon they got to the entrance of Earth "Come on we can't be late!" I told Sweet and they went right through the portal. On the other side. "There is a hurricane coming this way. Get behind the cation tape." A speaker said. "Ugh that was worse than usual." I said and got up. "I must agree." said Sweet getting up behind her. "Oh no the hurricane is going to get here before we can cross to the other side!" I said. "Be ready to cross right after it crosses ok?" Sweet said "Got it." I answered "Meow." went something behind her. She spun around to face a kitten. "Aww so cute!" I said and picked the kitten up. " Hey! You two over there back it up!" Someone said on the other side. "Ok" I said and stepped back. FWOSH! A terribly loud sound was heard to her left. "It's getting louder!" I screamed over the wind. "I think we all know that by now!" Sweet screamed behind her. The hurricane was coming straight towards them! "RUN!" I Yelled. "Get back into the portal!" I yelled. "I already tried!" Sweet said far ahead of her "Follow me!" I said and tuned the corner. Yes! I am safe but what about Sweet? Can I protect this little stray cat? She thought as she looked down at the little kitten. Her heart pounded as the hurricane stormed by her. She was safe. Just then the hurricane changed its course and came spinning towards her! "Run!" She heard Sweet behind her. She turned and ran the other way.

I won't make it. She thought as the storm caught her she went spinning around in circles. Then everything went dark... "Take my hand!" Someone said. Who's that? Hold on I think it's Kate? It was Kate! I reached my hand as far as I could. I got it. She pulled me out onto flat ground again. She looked around, this was the eye of the storm. "Mrow." She heard a cat say it was the stray cat she found earlier! She jumped up and grabbed the small kitten. "At least I found you," I said to the scared little kitten.

"So... how are we going to get out of here?" I asked. "Bout to ask the same question." Kate answered. "I've got the craziest idea ever but it might work." "Ok then what's the plan?" Kate asked. "Oh I forgot here it's for your mom." I said and handed her the letter. "Thanks." Kate said. "The plan is to keep going forward then soon enough if it works we will come out on the other- I was saying, but then Kate interrupted and said. "Hey do you hear that? It sounds and smells like the ocean!" "I know what you mean! But that just means we have to do this now or never!" I tried to make my voice as loud as I could.

"Hey look there's water!" I yelled. "I'm going with or without you so come with if you want!" I said. I turned around and went forward. Is this really a good idea? I could barely breathe in the first place now with water splashing in my face. My heart pounded as I went back into the hurricane this time I forced my eyes open. Suddenly she could not feel the ground underneath. Swim Swim Swim! "Moew!" the kitten said. She was ahead of her and Kate swimming so fast! I'll call you Shelly. That goes with the ocean and you swim so fast and you like water! You know, all the cats I know, do not like water, Except for you. I added as an afterthought. Just then she burst into the air she was out, and the hurricane disappeared. "Cake! I was so worried about you!" Sweet said on sore. What the heck happened! "Worried about me? I was worried for you!" I said. "Anyway what happened once me and Kate got lost in the hurricane?" I asked as I got on the ground. What Sweet did was... "Cake!" I screamed. Even though I knew she did not hear me. "Kate!" I heard someone say. I went towards the noise, it was Kate's mom. "Hi." I said, not sure if she heard me. "Ahh!" "oh it's just you. You scared me Sweet!" "Oh sorry" "Hey look! The hurricane is going back towards the ocean!" So what happened is they followed the hurricane at a safe distance and now they are here. Anyways I told Sweet what happened in the hurricane. "Come on let's go back." I picked up the kitten and headed for the portal. When we got home I told my dad what happened, and got Shelly's bed, food and water and went to bed. Today had been the craziest day I had ever had! The next day it took her 10 seconds to recount the events that happened yesterday. Then I went down stairs. "Are there any more letters I have to deliver?" I asked dad. "Yes it's to Kate's mom." My dad says. "Oh and there is a hurricane headed in that direction so be careful." dad said. "Wait what is today?" I asked. "You should know but if you really want to know it's May 20th." What??? That was yesterday's date!!!

~To be continued~